

Montessori Seeds of Education is an AMI Recognized and AMS Member School established in the Summer of 2014. On February 3rd, 2020, MSOE moved to an amazing new property located on a 5.5 acre campus in historic, yet progressive Moorestown, New Jersey and has been able to operate fully in-person and successfully during the pandemic.

We are now seeking an AMI trained Primary Lead Guide for the 2022-2023 school year and beyond to join the current program. The ideal candidate should embrace being an extrovert, interdependent, quick on their feet, a collaborator, have a sense of humor, is professional, exudes their love of the primary-aged child, is a good communicator both verbally and through the use of the Transparent Classroom tool. Our 3-6 Primary Program has a wonderful and experienced staff who will continue to support this program in a fully equipped, stunning classroom suite overlooking the pool, English Gardens and playground.

We are a dynamic and fast-growing community with a unique and positive culture that is run in a non-traditional, forward-thinking manner. The primary teacher candidate should be a seasoned teacher and aspire to plant their roots, and grow along with MSOE without taking this opportunity as a stepping stone in their Montessori path.

There is knowledgeable support, resources and engagement in our community along with a Parent Association actively engaged with each Program Guide and the Administration. Salary and other potential benefits will be competitive compared to like Montessori Schools. Our expectation of our teacher candidate is for them to develop a passion for the mission of MSOE while embracing an environment of positive growth with room for future opportunities if desired.
