

Montessori Seeds of Education is AMI Recognized as well as an AMS Member School.

We are seeking an AMI Elementary trained Lead Guide for the 2022-2023 school year and beyond to replace the current Lead Guide, who is also the Head of School. The ideal candidate is extroverted, interdependent, good on their feet, a collaborator, has a sense of humor, is professional, exudes their love of the elementary-aged child, is a good communicator and consistent with communication through the use of the Transparent Classroom tool, and will embrace the mission of the school. This is a dynamic and fast-growing community with a uniquely positive culture that is run in a non-traditional, forward-thinking manner. The elementary teacher candidate should aspire to plant their roots, and not as a stepping stone in their Montessori career path.

MSOE was established in the Summer of 2014. On February 3rd, 2020, MSOE moved to an amazing new property on a 5.5 acre campus in historic, yet progressive Moorestown, New Jersey and has been able to operate fully in person and successfully during the pandemic.

Our 6-12 Elementary Program in 2022-23 will have around 35 students. You will also have a wonderful and experienced staff who will continue to support this program. We could grow the Elementary Program to 40 students or more and will consider utilizing a 6-9 (Lower Elementary) and 9-12 (Upper Elementary) model for the right candidate. The Present Guide/Head of School expects to continue in the classroom part time and over a period of time to achieve a smooth transition. He wishes to phase out and not just stop being a part of the classroom completely. However, the goal is to replace the Head of School so he can have more time to focus on successfully running and growing MSOE.

There is knowledgeable support, resources and engagement in our community. Salary and other potential benefits will be competitive compared to like Montessori Schools. Our expectation of our teacher candidate is to develop a passion for the mission of MSOE while embracing an environment of positive growth with room for future opportunities if desired.
